We have watched you set up and operate what might have been a difficult organization to direct for a person of lesser capability. We recognize your sincere interest in the welfare of the individual student. We have seen you set aside your executive role and act as teacher in the classroom. You are a good friend to both school and community. We extend our good wishes for your continued success.

To Lonnie Q. Glasgow, principal of Seneca Junior H. S., we dedicate the 1963 Arrow.

PRESENTING THE 1963 ARROW STAFF

Mark Berlin

Each annual staff has the unshakable belief that its creation is a true masterpiece; we of the 1963 Arrow staff are no exceptions. When the months of creating, organizing, writing, drawing, selling, editing, checking, and re-checking are complete, and the last page has gone to the printer, we await with great anticipation the arrival of the first issue. This year it brings with it such new innovations as the separate senior and junior high sections and the student life commentary. We only hope that the joys of owning a 1963 Arrow will equal the joy that we had in bringing it to you.

No one except those on the staff could ever fully realize and appreciate the tireless efforts of Mrs. Kraft as director and producer of the Arrow. Not only does she excel in creativity and efficiency, but she is a "super-diplomat" as well! For all this we are deeply grateful.

We also would like to express our appreciation to the following people and organizations for their assistance: Roanette Naamani for the class history; Jim Crunkleton for the breakpages; Mr. Glenn Raymond; Ruth Robins for the script; Sam Hinerfeld, Fred Beck, Lynn Smith, Kaufman's and the "Courier-Journal" for pictures.

So, what you see before you now is not just an ordinary book; but, someday, you will need only brush off the dust and open its covers to relive the banner year, 1963.

The class of '63 represents the beginning seventh grade of six years ago when Seneca was first opened as a three year high school. This very astute group has excelled in all phases of high school endeavors. Nine merit scholars, with a triple of this number in close pursuit, head the academic list. Beauty queens with superb talent have attracted attention on the local, and national levels. Football and basketball teams blazed enviable trails of glory to coveted championships. Other athletic and academic teams also achieved comparable heights in their respective fields.

These pre-teens of six years ago have given their parents and teachers a great deal of pleasure and pride during this colorful, transitional period of maturity.

Congratulation are certainly in order for this class, and I am sure that I speak for the faculty and administrative staff when I wish for them continued success and happiness in the bountiful years ahead.

Sincerely,

Kenneth B. Farmer

SENECA SALUTES

two faculty members and two students from the Senior Class who have contributed much of their individual talents, abilities, and time toward creating the cheery, efficient, intellectual, ever-remembered happy homeland of the Redskins.

Throughout the commonwealth Diane is known as Miss Junior Miss of Kentucky. We are proud of her for this achievement, but Diane possesses far more than beauty and talent. She is a good student, a wonderful friend, and a reliable supporter of all school activities, both educational and extracurricular. Yes, after dedicating two former years to the Arrow, she is the Editor-in-Chief of the book you are reading right now. Diane, your modesty and humility are an integral part of your charm. Your fine example of good leadership deserves the highest praise.

DIANE SAWYER

You see him in the bookstore or at the desk in his classroom. That night he will probably sell you a ticket to the basketball game. As Athletic Director for Seneca, he spends hours arranging schedules, bus rides, and ordering equipment. Every contributor to Lights for Seneca receives a "thank you" letter signed by Mr. M. We didn't really mind the leaf collecting or the frog dissecting because we think you are a great Biology teacher, sir. Last but certainly not least, what would the Senior class do without your cooperation in arranging the many details related to the big day, Graduation? We want you to know that we appreciate the time and help that you have given us.

MR. JAMES MATTHEWS

This lady arrives early in the morning and stays late in the afternoon. You have seen her selling everything from cupcakes to plastic covers for your yearbooks to increase the J.C.L. Scholarship Fund, a worthy and admirable cause. She directs the publication of Seneca's athletic programs. The J.C.L. is one of our school's most active organizations. Among its projects is the calendar queen contest that results in our having an attractive school calendar. Latin programs are presented for the enjoyment of the student body. Real Roman banquets and trips to national conventions are arranged for the J.C.L. members. Would these matters be managed so efficiently without you, Mrs. C.? We don't think they would, and we want to express our gratitude for your interest in our happiness as well as your contributions to our education.

MRS. GERTRUDE CHAUDOIN

Have you ever noticed any particularly attractive window murals and signs along Seneca's hallways? Jim designed and painted many of them. His brush has always been in the paint pot whenever scenery has been needed for stage productions. As a three year member of the Arrow staff he has drawn all the attractive break pages in your yearbooks. Yes, the cover design of the book you hold in your hand was created by Art-editor Jim. Your place may be hard to fill. Thanks for everything, Jim.

A DAY AT SENECA

Even as the first of 2600 responds with a stretch and a yawn to the sound of the alarm, activity is in progress at 3510 Goldsmith Lane. Darkness gently creeps away as the custodian clicks the lock at the main door; soon Mr. Farmer enters and begins shuffling through his morning announcements; in the cafeteria Mr. Ash readies his donut stand for the first onrush of business; the early teachers - eager for the choice parking spaces - negotiate the S curve and swing into the vacancies nearest the curb; the roar of the first bus and the screech of its brakes at the loading dock signals the end of the morning calm - and a day at Seneca has begun.

Students spill quickly from their buses. It is easy to detect the disgruntled ones who waited long, cold minutes for the bus to arrive, the disheveled ones who arrived just as the bus was pulling away and suffered a long chase before climbing aboard, and, of course, the contented ones who reached their stop just as the bus was pulling up to the curb. But early or late, the bus riders have all reached their destination.

As buses continue to arrive, activity centers in the cafeteria where students while away the minutes before school begins. Here, a student gulps down a donut and a bottle of milk to supplement a hurried breakfast - or no breakfast at all. There, a student bends over homework given up as "impossible" the night before. Everywhere students talk, study, eat, or relax as they prepare for the day to come.

Of course, not all of Seneca's 2600 arrive on the buses. For many, the point of arrival is the student's parking lot with its perpetual traffic jam. Here, arrival is a special trial as students back and maneuver in search of the "perfect" parking place.

When the first bell rings, however, the cafeteria empties, the traffic jam subsides, the parking places are filled, and the classrooms begin to bustle with activity. But for a few, classes must wait; for there is always unexpected delay. . .

The first event of the new day is a briefing by the "chief redskin," Mr. Farmer. Announcements ranging from congratulations to the basketball team to "there is a blue Ford in the teachers' parking lot with the lights on" echo through hall and classroom as students are informed of coming events, special projects, and noteworthy achievements. Then the bell rings, homeroom is dismissed, and the school day begins in earnest.

First period may bring an English course or a trigonometry class; but, first of all, the challenge of Seneca's hallways must be met. With lockers banging, books dropping, and a constant buzz of excitement, every one rushes to enter class before the tardy bell rings. Even so, there always a few who just can't quite make it on time. . .

Once in class and under the watchful eyes of a teacher, however, the rush and excitement of the halls is forgotten and the students turn to their lessons.

In a few classes at Seneca "turning to lessons" means settling back to watch a television broadcast. To most students, television class is "old hat"; and terms like "study-guide," "broadcast," and "lesson plan" are an integral part of their daily routine. T.V. History is just one of Seneca's five television classes.

When first period ends, the halls are again thrown into a mass of controlled confusion, and locker wells fill with rushing students. For many, the five minutes between class means a race against time as they flit from locker to classroom. But for some, the class break is a time to renew old friendships and greet old acquaintances. . .

Thus the day proceeds as the morning speeds by - perhaps an algebra class and a few quadratic equations or a linear expansion. . .

Perhaps a humanities class and a look at ancient Egyptian temple carvings or a discussion of Plato's Republic. . .

At 11:00 the fourth period bell rings and the lunchroom ladies prepare for the onrush of hungry students. Each student takes his place in line. After purchasing their lunches the students set out to find a seat, which isn't always an easy task! When scanning the room for an empty place, a student generally locates one in the far end of the cafeteria. Of course, it is not unusual for two students to spy the same seat, which inevitably ends with a clatter of dishes and the breaking of glass.

But there is little "crying over spilt milk"; in fact, some students their candy sales from the unfortunates who have lost lunches. These notorious salesmen, hiding their overflowing bags from the watchful eyes of teachers, have become a permanent part of the cafeteria "black market."

news. It's surprising how far behind one can get during four periods of "break-ups" and "make-ups."

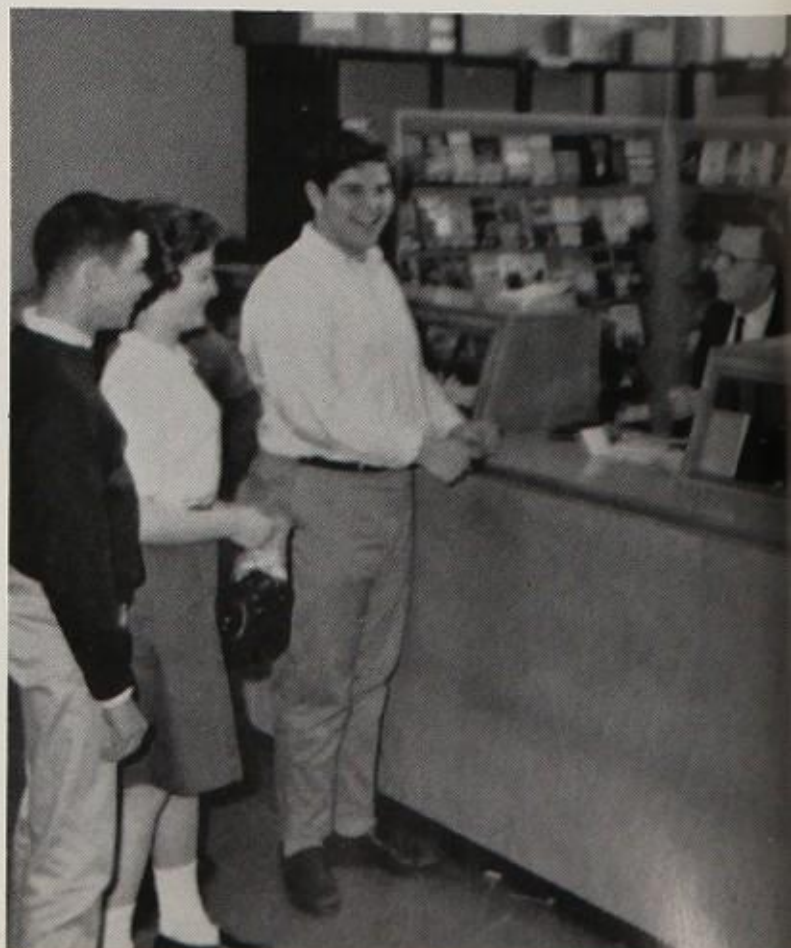

Some forgetful students make a daily trip to the Lost and Found, where things are always lost and rarely found. After rumbling through every gym-suit and sweat-shirt in the closet, the students realize suddenly that there are only fifteen seconds left to beat the teacher back to class.

In the small cafeteria the president of the F.T.A. calls a meeting to order and notices that the membership of the club has grown appreciably. These self-appointed members are promptly asked to leave. This produces a mad dash for Mrs. Rausch's office in hopes of obtaining a note for re-entering class.

But these students, for the most part, must venture the return to class without a note. And alas, the Herculean task of passing Mr. Jesse's room unapprehended is rarely successful. Once caught, the culprits are ushered into the room amid the laughter of his students; and there, till the end of the day, they pay dearly for their crime.

The end of the day, at this time, is only an hour away. Although both teachers and students glance at their watches more and more frequently, the final bell brings particular respite to that down-trodden piece of humanity who can be identified by the ribbons in her hair and the candy in her purse. She is not only liable to the punishment of the teachers, (pledging, like candy-selling, is an illegal operation) but, she has even more reason to dread discovery by one of those teen-age termagants, an older club member. This pitiful specimen must then submit to such debasing tortures as burying her smiles in the concrete floor, or slipping a love note in a boy's locker.

The afternoon announcements by Mr. Robinson signal the lining up at the starting gate; and by the time that final bell has stopped its ringing, the school room has been evacuated. Only occasionally a teacher is left to wonder if those super-sonic streaks of matter were actually his same yawning students.

A student's exit direction is governed by several factors. First his mode of transportation indicates whether he will brave the motoring mob at the back, or be carried by the masses to the front door and the waiting buses. Second, any number of derivations and detours may be incorporated into the plan, according to the number of the opposite sex the student wishes to encounter in the halls. These "chance" meetings usually result in little more than an exchange of rehearsed "Hi's"; but there is no one who would deny their importance.

The ride home for the car-pool student, aside from the anguished waiting for a stray member while the traffic jam grows worse and worse, is without adventure compared to that of the bus rider. This courageous pioneer must surmount such obstacles as squeezing through the door with about three other students, racing for a treasured seat, and then, if there's no success, attempted survival in the aisle. However, when one does finally become situated, it makes everything worthwhile just to hear the three o'clock gossip. Thus the student reaches home - content, battered, and unbowed.

For many, the typical Seneca school afternoon is centered around homework and studies; but there are always those whose after school hours are devoted to more diversified activities. . .

However, the 3:00 bell on Fridays heralds an entirely different atmosphere. The parking lot is alive with sounds of "See you tonight!", "I'll be by about eight!", and "You mean Tommy finally asked you!" The girls begin discussing what to wear, and the boys where to get the money. No one actually says goodbye; 19 for the evening's activities as well as the day's will probably be centered around Seneca.

Some of the students remain at school to decorate for the dance or, if the occasion is a ball game, set up the coat check and the popcorn stand; but, in any event, by the time the crowd begins to arrive, all is in order.

The students aren't the only ones who find themselves once again at Seneca. At a dance, one can usually see Mr. Farmer and some of the faculty chaperones wandering around trying to recognize the students with their perfectly combed hair and immaculate dress.

But at a ballgame it is difficult to determine from their enthusiasm just who is the student and who the teacher. Although there are festivities going on at Seneca itself, other Seneca students can still be found in almost any situation - even meeting "Ben" and "Hoss" at the State Fair. . .

But no matter where the student has been before, he can always count on an en masse reunion at Frisch's or the Ranch House between 11:00 and 12:00. Here everyone congregates to order little and laugh a lot. But after twelve, the crowd begins to thin out as all the Seneca Prince Charmings take their tired and happy Cinderellas home.

Meanwhile, back at 3510 Goldsmith Lane, Mr. Farmer and the teachers, talking excitedly about the success of the game, or appreciatively mentioning the good conduct of the students at the dance, go out the gym door and hear the familiar click as he locks it behind them. He has just finished picking up the vestiges of the evening: a carelessly dropped pom-pom, an empty Coca-Cola cup, a wilted flower, a discarded no-break card.

He turns off the lights and closes the gym door. He stoops to pick up a forgotten piece of popcorn, and slowly walks down the hall.

Dear Diary:

I've just heard the Dians announce that our class numbers 296.

My senior year seems ages away! How can I ever wait until I'm able to change classes like the big freshman? It's so boring to sit here in core while they get to run around. I'll bet they don't have half the homework we do. They all seem so cool. Do you suppose they ever felt as I do? Everything seems so far away. I really can't see myself graduating. 1963 - will I ever reach that magic year?

Dear Diary:

Being in the eight grade is so much better. I wonder if we looked as bewildered as the new seventh graders. They still haven't learned their way around school.

The Tannenbaum Tance was so much fun last night! Diane Sawyer and Milton Miller were elected princess and prince.

Dear Diary:

At last . . . we've finally through the barriers between and senior high! It's not that hard to get over the two younger well, it's about time. They've even our freshmen class officers: Milton Miller, president; Jim Dent, rep; Jon Fleischaker, treasurer; and Mary Donna McKay, secretary.

Now we even have tatives on the J. V. cheer-squad: Judy Rose and Sawyer.

yesterday. He thinks Seneca needs to add some sparkle to some basketball games. He has some idea of beginning a Pep Band comprised of nine of Mr. Wick's best musicians. Carl Kenny said he was interested, too. If they ever get the dream on paper, it might work. They'll really sound great, and we could use a little extra spirit.

Decorations for Nuit d'Amour were nothing short of spectacular. Again Milton Miller was selected as Prince and Judy Rose, his Princess.

Dear Diary:

My gosh, we're sophomores! Of course we have another two years to go after this year, but still ... we've passed the half way mark.

In the beauty queen department we've racked up pretty well. Diane Sawyer is our Basketball Queen, and Leslie Henderson was named Basketball Princess. I wonder whose idea it was to sponsor a Calendar Contest? They must make a mint on the profits from the calendars. I've just received mine and am pleased to note that there are four sophomore girls in it: Branda Igo, Diane Sawyer, Rae Waterstone, and Mary Jane Whittle.

You know, it really must feel strange to be a candidate for a class office and know that your personal records are being examined to see if you're qualified. I think we have a good governing board this year. Don Waddell, Milton Miller, Judy Rose, Jim Dent, Bill Hays, and Craig Wiggins are president, vice-president, secretary, treasurer, and sergeants-at-arms.

Of course we have top representation on our basketball team. We're bound to have a good season with Jon Fleischaker, David Hec, Tom Duggins, and Mike Redd. Redd looks especially great. He looks (and plays) to be the best.

Dear Diary:

And finally we are juniors. Only two more years. It's not that I want to get out of the school, but rather that I derful year will never come!

In all my years I'll never forget Greg Haynes' campaign. Such enthusiasm! And when Greg won the election and became State Beta Club President, no people could be happier than we at seeing his victory.

Again Brenda Igo and Rae Waterstone were selected as J. C. L. Calendar Contest Queens.

I meant to tell Jim Stuppy that he looks good in the Drum Major outfit. I wonder how much time goes into planning each drill that he and the band perform?

All the work that went into our Jr. class play was well worth the effort. We really had a terrific program. "Seneca, This Is Your Life" is a credit to its writers.

Varsity cheerleaders? This year we have four on the squad: Leslie Henderson, Nancy Merritt, Judy Rose, and Gail Toobin. However, I still think Seneca needs more spirit. This year is the best so far, and very few make any effort to cheer us on.

Though we had an "off" season in football this year, we're still proud of our boys: Jim Swart, Milton Miller, Roger Bailey, Charlie Meyers, Don Waddell, and Harrell Tague. As for basketball, we are terrific! But of course we have such wonderful cagers: Mike Redd, Tom Duggins, Laurence Branch, Marc and Jon Fleischaker, David Necht, Don Ralston, and Bruce Dalrymple.

Voicing the opinions of the class is the great team of Charlie Myers (pres.), Charlie Schott (rep.), Diane Little (sec.), Carol Whitel (treas.), John McCracken and Dennis Kestler (sgts. - at arms).

We had our "juniors, going-on seniors" assembly today - our rings were presented to us. They are simply beautiful!

The National Honor Society went tapping people today. They chose these twelve for membership: Charles B. Bartman, John Greenbaum, Greg Haynes, Brent Holman, Brenda Igo, Linda Mack, Alfie Mashuta, Nancy Merritt, Charlie Myers, Gerry Rutter, Diane Sawyer, and Terry J. Waldman.

Dear Diary:

Our Senior year ...

Merit scholarships were announced today: Terrie Dale, Jon ... Ralston, Sallie Schulten, John Videtto,

Linda Mack, Karen Volz, Jim Vertrees. It must be nice
For the third year in a row, Seneca has had the Jefferson County Jr. Miss winner in its student body. Diane Sawyer looked effulgent as she was presented with her crown last night.

are nothing short of top, and the team is spectacular.

Who can ever forget the Senior Play? Sally Rosenbaum lent job of character portrayal.

Our leaders in this all important stand up for "our rights": George Wilson is a very capable president. Marvin O'Loon seems to lend an air of merriment to class meetings. Lynn Partin and Roger Bailey are both handling the positions with marvelous alacrity.

Dennis Kestler and John McCracken are fine sergeants-at-arms . . . they let us talk.

We, the Senior Class of '63, have the distinction of being the first group to complete all six years of secondary school at Seneca. However, our days are numbered. In a short time we will begin our final round of school activities - our final fling of youth. The Senior Banquet, the Prom, the Baccalaureate service all are stepping stones to that graduation day when we shall march up front to receive that coveted diploma. The class of '63 will be entering a vast, new world - of responsibilities, a world of trial and error, a world of happiness and success. Are we ready to leave the fold? You, dear diary, hold the past; what will our future bring?

Time marches on . . . Soon I must turn the key in your golden lock for the last time as a high school student. With that final snap comes the realization that our names will be added to the illustrious list of Seneca High School Alumni.

We savor the warm memories of carefree youth. With mixed emotion we walk ahead, never turning back. Our steps are sure, our heads high, and emblazoned across our hearts the words,

"Seneca Forever".

Roanette Naamani

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

Seneca forever, loyal and true
Our hearts will never change our love for you.
Ever in the future, though we'll be gone
Your influence on us will still live on.
You have guided us well, and taught a sea
Of knowledge to the Class of '63.
Soon we'll be departing, each on his own,
But we'll return someday when we're well-known.
Newspapers will tell of us as a starter
With writers Johnson, Lane, and Barbara Carter.
Ralston and R. Fishman can write just great.
Houchin and Wilson write 'cause it's innate.
And what will they write of? Sports, possibly.
There's Milton Miller, "Coach of '70."
Hecht will coach athletics, and he won't stall
When it comes to Redd, playing pro B-ball.

Even busy writers have to fly some.
Stewardesses Throgmorton and Cathy Gumm
Joined by Becky Owen make one lose thought
Speaking of Dalrymple as astronaut.
Most who like to fly high don't like to tarry.
Such is C. Myers with his aviary.
This is such a sight to see, that I promise
We'll have our own photographer, Earl Thomas.
Pictures don't all come from camera or book
When art work's done by Buster or M. Cook.
Watching B. Horan draw is such a thriller;
Same goes for Sharon Warfield and D. Miller.
Interior decorating is fun
When it is done with Leslie Henderson.
Merritt is outstanding. Designers, look--
So are E. Berman, Whittle, and Holbrook.
K. Silverstein's work one need not inspect;
He will no doubt be a fine architect.
Hamrich, Staebler and Johnson have a good Diehl.
Adding one Nuttall, this group has appeal.

Whether you're a Bush, a Branch, or a tree
Your engineering's good enough for me.
Anderson and Baldrige also are fine,
Currens and Rays of Blackburn really shine.
Engineers are many, Taylor, Hertle, Muir,
Ellens, Wallin, Castner, Davis, Raderer,
Oechslein and G. Johnson; England's a card.
All these are engineers plus Don Bernhard.
Nick Evola, Jr., with D. Hiland
Have engineering rules at their command.
But if they should stumble, make a mistake,
There's always translator Miss Vicky Hake.
Other such bilinguals never have problems.
Linker and Schumacher just chirp like Robins.

If a Gale should blow on politics afar
She's helping Schulten with U. S. S. R.
If you like to travel, my laddie or my bonny,
Sign up for U. S. work and join R. Naamani.
Kaufman and S. Platoff both feel the same.
Government work is for them; it's not a game.
Noller likes the Peace Corps. It's really swell.
K. Volz agrees, and so does P. Caldwell.
Yet, there must be guidance where e'er you're goin'
So lawyers have their say--

Neeb, Bailey, Ebert, and Cohen.
Crunkleton and Porter, Goldstein, O'Koon,
Can't wait to get to sing a courtroom tune.
How could a lawyer be too resistant
With Marcia Dwinell as his assistant?
When you need accountants, please don't be floored.
Just go to Dowell, Waldman, or Jim Hord.
When you need some aid, you've only to say.
Ask Stuart Robenson, a C. P. A.
Answering some questions, a teacher does quite well
If she's a Jolly or an S. Spikell.
Armbruster and Bates and Ropke ring a Bell.
That's quite a Lott with M. McKay and Leslie Jean Lindell.
Have a Hart but please don't start to let your students tarry,
Or they'll be late and irritate teach Lane or teach McNarry.
Childress, Cochran, Cohen, Lowe,
Millikin, Potash teach the slow.

A teacher of valor who can find?
Her Pleiss is far above rubles.
Yurich, Writsel, Zibart, Saul,
even a Fox has scruples.
If Carolyn Willet S. Chase
T. Hampton, there will be a race.
Every teacher should be as good a Reeder as days of old,
And if she's not she's in a spot,
so I suggest SEE BOLD.
Dawson, Deible, and Rita Meyer teach just as they should.
Peterson and Don Hendricks are also very good.
Eshenauer, Williamson,
Morris, Talbott, Pendleton,
Jacobs, Kareem, I'm not lyin'
All these teachers do just fine.
Sundstrom, Nason, Sharon Slaton,
Perelmuter is really ratin'
Waterstone recites an ode
While Morse uses her private code.
Conduct problems won't be startin'
With fine teacher Lynn B. Partin.
Birds have feathers, bees have stingers,
Galloways have opera singers.
H. Ashcraft's ears are so quick,
he's going to major in music--
Muir and Miller likewise will.
Another Miller fills the bill.

G. Rutter will be very grand as concert pianist in the land.
Rosenbaum's ambition will come about some day.
She wants to stay some in a play
On that fine stage, Broadway!
M. Solinsky wants to be
An actress. (That is plain to see.)
While Kim Perkins dances, and J. Hechtman models,
"Mr. America" fame Dobelstein coddles.
Mechanic McGinnis will work with a motor
While Carl F. Kenney will be a sailboater.
Beauticians say, "Only your hairdresser knows."
Hairstylist Clements agrees with Miss Rose (Hite that is). And for all the rest of those Barber G. Sickles her proud shop she shows.

Igo for doctors like Fulk and Waddell,
McCracken, Cooper, Averitt, and Kozlove are swell.
Terry I. Waldman, I'm sure you can tell,
With Pruitte and Gardner make anyone well.
Stuppy, Stamper, Scott are best.
With Cooke and James they meet the test.
As dentists they have high position.
Strauss does fine as their technician.
Kelsey, Pate, Maloy like pets.
Add J. Wilson to these vets.
Nurses Fishman, Griffith, Neale
Like E. Miller work with zeal.
K. Smith, P. Smith, Shirley Speier,
Meglemry brings the patients cheer.
Bitner, Heina, C. Cornell,
Hoover, Williams make one well.
Dana Jacobs wants to be
A nurse in the U.S. Navy.
C. Nelson will be a med. technologist.
Fine, Hays, and Settle will each be psychologists.

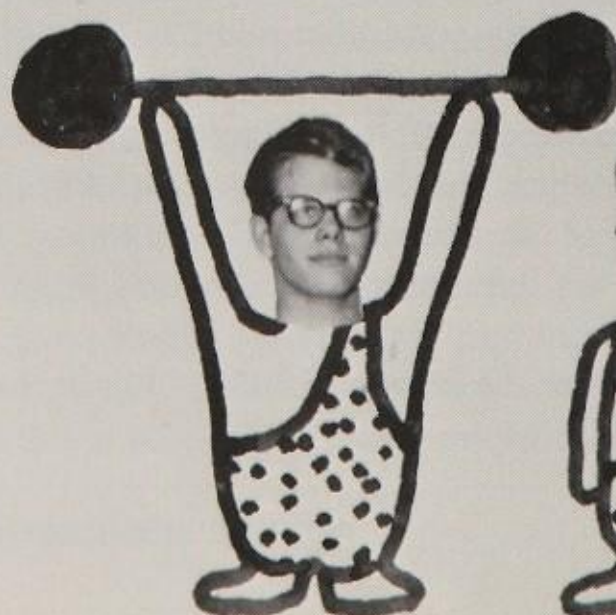

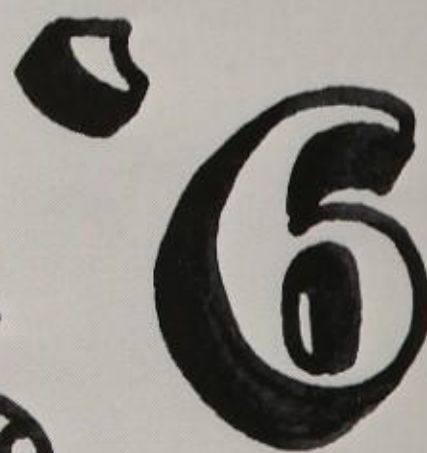

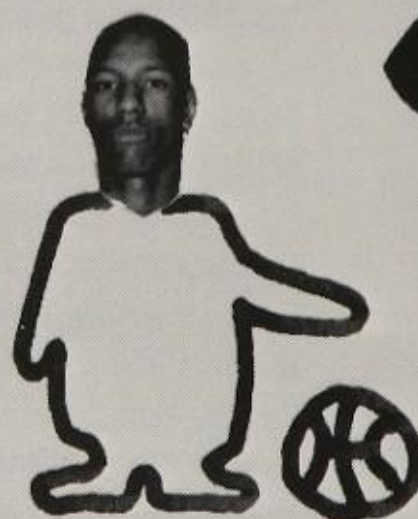

"Tell me your problems," says one like a panelist.
It's Diane Sawyer, the fine psycholanalyst.
Snider, Walker, Smith, and Wood,
As with R. Speier are quite good.
The butcher, the Baker, the candlestick maker,
and who else think you they be?
Adams (and Eves), Goldberg, Caller, and Schulman,
Are all in for therapy.
Marshall, Miller, Taylor, Rose
With Krouse their social work fame grows.
Writers can't keep tab
of everything that often varies.
They need Donna's Witt
and that of all the secretaries.
Aron, Bullis, Campbell, Carroll,
Cecil thinks her job is fun.
Childers, Evans, Dale and Kirchner,
Janice's work is quickly Dunn.

I love Parris in the springtime, sunshine's Golden in the fall.
 Summers, Hayes, and Sharon Sweazy,
 Toobin--secretaries all.
 Having problems? Then ask Landers.
 She'll tell you your fears to quell.
 We won't lack for secretaries
 Vincent, Wasserman, and Shell.
 Librarian B. Davenport is one you can afford
 If you have a recorder with you such as bookkeeper P. Ford.
 Dickerson, and Bob Kilijian,
 Bruce Kranz and Joel Sonnheim too.
 Add Sam Whatley and together,
 these salesmen are right for you.
 If you want to Snapp ahead
 in business, hurry to it.
 Aboff, Swart, and Eggleton
 are also going to do it.
 Marc and Jon Fleischaker are really on the ball,
 As businessmen De Garis, Wahba, Dent and Sonny Hall.

Tague along with Duggins. Such executives--just look!
 Add Ledford, T. Huston, Pfeiffer, and Jeff Holbrook.
 Mashuta, it is plain to see, is just right for economy.
 Philosophers are hard to find.
 Their wisdom's never spent.
 The Class of '63 has one--philosopher Nugent.
 Linda Mack will have pride in her station,
 Director of Christian Education.
 Perkins, Arnold, and C. Bartman really have a lot
 To make the perfect minister,
 and so does Charlie Schott.
 Some man will have a happy life
 With Pat A. Carroll as his wife.

Mathematicians add in Koloms, some can even Reid.
 David Blakley and Dan Ruttle figure with great speed.
 In the field of science many "brilliants" tend to roam.
 Davis, Greenbaum, and Bill Bailey, won't you please come home?
 Natural scientist Vertrees his profession ne'er distains.
 That also applies to great biologist Greg Haynes.
 If you think you get the gist of one science or so,
 You should be a nuclear physicist as Videtto.
 The Duke of WAVES is Phyllis, the Coast Guard is for Bass.
 As best in all the Navy Jacobson and Catlett pass.
 Killinder, McMillan, Rosbottom, and C. Simpson,
 Kestler, Palm, and Pratt, and Wiggins find their work is fun.
 Adding S. T. White and then L. Wyman plus Jean Scott,
 One can see, of '63 not one could be forgot.
 Such will be our fortunes in days to come.
 Standing together they form quite a sum.
 Senecans forever, be brave, be bold.
 Never forget our happy days of old.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Representatives

The Student Council, under the direction of Mrs. McQuillen, has had a busy year!

At the beginning of the school year, each homeroom was presented with an American Flag by the Council. In November the annual Homecoming Dance, sponsored by the Student Council, was held. For Christmas, over 100 Christmas baskets were filled and delivered to needy families. The traditional Nuit d'Amor Valentine Dance was held in February and was quite successful. In April the new officers were elected for the coming year.

The forecast is for continued success in the coming year.

Seminar Delegates Chosen

by John Hicks

This is not just another ordinary school subject to four upperclassmen this year. Taking part in a county-wide "Science Seminar" sponsored by the County Board of Education second Saturday, Gerry David Blakley, Sharon Slaton and Rod Mackler, along with students from other county schools, will hear a lecture on such subjects as genetics or chemistry. Lectures are given at local schools and business establishments, i.e. G. E. Appliances, the U. of L. School of Medicine, and the County Board of Education.

Each talk is given by an expert in his field. Recently Dr. Donald Bennet, head of the U. of L. Physics Department, spoke on atomic energy. A talk on computers is slated for the future.

Each school group is working on a season project for presentation at a county-wide exhibition in the spring. The four from Seneca have chosen to investigate amino acids for their project, delving into a possible relationship to cancer. "This is one of the most fascinating aspects of organic chemistry," said Rod Mackler, a member of the seminar. "Scientists are eagerly searching for the possible causes of cancer; and amino acids, the building blocks of protein, may very well be connected to this disease."

Amino acids have also been linked to the beginning of life on earth. Several years ago Dr. Stanley Miller of Columbia University successfully produced amino acids by bombarding a mixture of gases and water with electrical discharges. It has been theorized that this is how life began.

"The possibilities of this subject are fascinating," declared David Blakely, another one of the four seminar students. "We are all eager to see what the results of our experiments will be." An advisor will be assigned later.

GO WEST, YOUNG MAN, GO WEST!

Horace Greely wasn't speaking to high school students when he uttered those famous words, but members of J.C.L. chapters from all over Kentucky did just that when they decided to attend the 1962 National Convention. There were thirty-eight members from Seneca H.S. and seventy more from other Kentucky areas who answered the call to blast off for points west on August 2, 1962. Our destination was Montana State College, Bozeman, Montana.

It was an enthusiastic crowd that gathered on Seneca's loading dock that hot afternoon. Perhaps our parents wondered if they had been wise in deciding to let us go. However, a chat with Mrs. Chaudoin seemed to set their minds at ease. They realized that we were in the best of hands, and of course, it was doubly reassuring to see so many adult chaperones, both parents and teachers, anxious to set out on the big adventure. Fifteen of them should be enough to keep plenty of eyes on us in case we decided to hang too far over a cliff along the route.

Finally the bus drivers found space to load all the dozens of suitcases aboard and we were off! The three big Trailways buses rolled out of the schoolyard headed for Lincoln, Nebraska; Cody, Wyoming; and Yellowstone Park, our first overnight stop on the road. Was it ever cold in Yellowstone that night! However, the geysers and hot springs made up for the lack of creature comforts. I'll never forget the beauty of Old Faithful. Remember that ride around Yellowstone Canyon? I thought the bus would drop off the side of the road, but Paladin, Frosty, and Al (our favorite drivers) knew what they were doing, and I was glad to leave the driving to them.

We had a roaring good time on the busses. Remember Mrs. Haunsz, Mrs. Cole, and Mrs. Kraft, the chaperones on bus two, who decided we were going to set the world's record for being neat and clean? We had a huge trash box which we filled periodically. At first it seemed a bother to have to clean up our mess so frequently, but to keep things harmonious we did it, and before long we found it added to our popularity, because everyone wanted to ride on our uncluttered bus.

I've never seen anything to equal the grandeur of Montana. There is rolling land with clear, blue, bubbling streams; vast plains; and colossal mountains on the horizon wherever you look.

The city of Bozeman is snuggled down in a valley surrounded by mountains. The campus of Montana State College is beautiful and spacious, an ideal location for a convention. The ultra-modern dormitories were a great improvement over those log cabins in Yellowstone. We quickly settled down to convention business. We met students from all over the United States and had a wonderful time working and enjoying our recreation time with them. Some of us even became excellent housekeepers - ask Alexis and Marilyn.

The business sessions of the convention were rewarding for many reasons. We discovered that students everywhere have the same problems and interests. We also elected a Kentuckian, Tom Jones from Fort Thomas, President of the National J.C.L. We had many workshops and meetings, and the convention was culminated by an afternoon of Roman games and a real "lying down" banquet. Those Romans really knew their stuff - give me the Roman life!

Our trip to Virginia City (Bonanza is now my favorite TV program) was a real treat. It has been commercialized now, but seeing all those "old west" buildings and equipment was a thrill I'll not soon forget. We saw a bonafide rodeo while there.

After visiting the Montana state capitol at Helena, we rolled westward across the gorgeous countryside of Washington - our destination - Seattle and the World's Fair. We decided we would be the first ones to go atop the Space Needle in the morning. We were there before the gates opened, and we Redskins saw the sun rise from that vantage point. The Fair was great and the three days spent there flew by too fast to suit us.

Then on to Oregon's state capitol with a glimpse of Mt. Hood and Mr. Rainier on the way to Portland, my favorite city, which is filled with grassy parkways abundantly planted with roses. Then we entered California via the Redlands Scenic Route. San Francisco is all they say it is with its view across the bay, cable cars, hills, Chinatown, and wonderful restaurants. We loved the trip down the Pacific coast to Knoxbury Farm and Los Angeles where we would visit Marineland of the Pacific and the feature attraction of the trip to many, Disneyland.

Then we headed eastward via the Grand Canyon, Albuquerque and Santa Fe, New Mexico, traveling Route 66, headed for home. We were a motley looking crew when we reached Goldsmith Lane again, but all agreed that it had been a memorable and enjoyable adventure, one that would remain in our hearts forever.

Our trip will serve to remind us that J.C.L. membership is not a status symbol, but rather a wonderful fellowship uniting us in a common interest that can reach far beyond the classroom to friends throughout our beautiful country of America.

JUNIOR CLASSICAL LEAGUE

OFFICERS: President, Larry Morgan; Vice-President, Brenda Seebold; Treasurer, John Hicks; Recording Secretary, Janice Jones; Corresponding Secretary, Charlotte Heina; Sergeants-at-Arms, Bob Kessack and Joe Kline. Sponsor, Mrs. Gertrude Chaudoin.

The J. C. L. is perhaps the most often seen and heard of organization around Seneca High School. What is the secret of its success? This question is often asked, but a satisfactory answer is seldom available for analysis.

The major goal of the J. C. L. is to raise money to award scholarships to deserving students of each graduating class who are interested in the study of languages. To attain this end they have sold pompons for football games, all kinds of Seneca lapel decorations, candy, cupcakes, as well as plastic covers for your yearbook. This kind of activity requires real effort and determination on the part of the student as well as the expenditure of hours of physical and mental energy.

Is life all labor and no enjoyment to a J. C. L. member? No, indeed. Each year they have numerous social gatherings to which friends are invited, and at which the cares and responsibilities to which they are dedicated are set aside. A trip to the National Convention has become a must to most of the members. These are not dull trips as you may have decided after reading the adjoining pages, but prove to be a stimulus to the students to carry on the good work connected with the Junior Classical League.

We're headed for Bozeman, Montana -- National Convention.

THE DRILL

The Seneca High Drill Corps has had a busy time during the 1962-63 school year. Marching in the Armistice Day Parade, in which they placed second, the Christmas Parade, the Derby Parade, and at a University of Louisville basketball game has kept the members active. The Drill Corps again sold candy this past year as a money-raising project. The profits enabled them to pay for a bus that took the members and their dates to an out-of-town basketball game at Somerset. In addition, the Drill Corps marched at many other basketball and football games. In the spring, a football game between the Seneca Drill Corps and Fern Creek will complete the 1962-63 school year.

Seneca Scores...

Wildcat Cheerleaders

Homecoming at any school is usually one of the most colorful events of the school year, but at Seneca, the 1962 Homecoming was both colorful and exciting.

An excited crowd started cheering enthusiastically before the game had even begun. While the teams were in the locker rooms for the pre-game pep talks, the Seneca High Drill Corps was strutting on the field to the beat of the drums. The Drill Corps, with each girl wearing a brilliant yellow mum, performed with red and gold pom-poms as they saluted both Seneca and Waggener. When each team returned to its own sidelines, a tremendous roar went up from the respective bleachers. With the playing of the national anthem, the toss of the coin, and the kick-off, the game began.

The first half ended with Seneca ahead 21-7. The score certainly helped to make the halftime activities enjoyable to all the Seneca fans. Bright convertibles with the candidates for queen and princess next rounded the football field.

The cars were decorated with Seneca's colors and each candidate wore a mum with red and gold ribbons. The beauties paraded into a crown formed by the Seneca High School Band. While the band played in their honor, the girls smiled their warmest smiles. Pictures were snapped, and applause given, as the candidates passed in front of the Seneca stands. Their shining faces captured the happiness and excitement of Seneca's Homecoming 1962.

The Seneca cheerleaders led the team onto the field for the second half. The crowd, with their team in the lead, was eager for the second half to begin. With the joyful singing of "Seneca Forever," the game ended with Seneca on top 33-7!

The Homecoming Dance was also a great success. A fine band provided music to everyone's liking. The evening was highlighted by the crowning of the Homecoming Queen and Princess. The expressions on everyone's faces showed that the spirit of Seneca was truly present at the

Cover girl Susan Roettger starts our year off
After looking at her no one will scoff.
Look at your calendar; do not tarry
Linda Dills is decorating January.
Diane Sawyer is the next girl,
And decided to give February a whirl.
The month of March, winds and all,
Is sporting a girl named Patty McCall.
Barbara Waldman, the next to appear,
Thinks April's the best month of the year.
Linda Cecil now has her day.

In fact, she has 31 in the month of May.
Dolvetta Young helps the month of June.
Many are glad it's coming up soon.
July comes along in the summertime.
And Brenda Igo decorates it "jes fine."
The month of August, with all its heat,
And a girl, Rae Waterstone, here do meet.
The month of September is fine, it does seem;
Especially when it gives us Sylvia Beam.
October brings the fall with a jerk,
Jo Anne Buckner just thinks it brings work.
To get to November, many are rarin'.
They just want to see Sandy Baron.

Majorettes Sandy Lilliard, Dolores Dunaway, Sandy Barry, Sue Ridenour, and Betty Maloney are always seen with the marching band. During basketball season they sometimes perform at halftime with background music by the pep band.

The Seneca Pep Band, which has grown in size and ability since last year, provides entertainment and spirit at pep rallies and many home basketball games. The leader and organizer is Lee Goldstein.

CONCERT BAND

Seneca's Concert Band gives its annual concert in the spring. In March many of the members participate in the All-County Band. The Band is directed by Mr. Harold Wich.

ORCHESTRA

The Seneca Orchestra played for the Calendar Contest and the Senior Play, "Paint Your Wagon." They will also participate in the Music Festival in March and give a concert in the spring. Mr. Harold Wich does an outstanding job as the orchestra's leader and director.

There are two additions to the coaching staff this year. New this year are Ron Cain, who coached at Waggener last season, and Norm Shlucher, who was a coach at Durrett two years ago.

REASON TO CHEER

This year the students of Seneca have really had something to cheer about! Among the major sports, (Football, Basketball, Track and Baseball) the Redskins amassed 53 wins against only 10 losses.

First on the list of Polecat honors is the Basketball team, rated first in the state in every poll. Coach Mulcahy led the mighty Redskins to 22 wins before the post-season tournaments and the 'Skins seem to be the likely team to replace St. X as State Champions. The team also won its third straight County Championship taking a firm hold on basketball in the County.

Mike Redd and Wesley Unseld led the team and are sure picks as All-State B-Baller's.

ball team has reaped local, state, and national acclaim as one of the best teams ever to come out of Kentucky. To the left is a poll by a national sport magazine.

The arrival of Coach Cain gave Seneca the first winning football team in its history. The Redskins lost their opener to Valley, but then hustled their way to eight straight wins and a District Championship with a 33-6 win over arch rival Waggener. Seneca was led by captains Jim Swart and Milt Miller.

The track team gave Seneca its first undefeated team with an 8-0 record. Coach Ash's Thinlies swept over all opponents and sped to a Co-County Championship and runner-up in the Region. Danny Groves, Bob Miller, and Alvin Smith starred with the mile and half mile relay teams also sparkling.

This year the 880 relay team (Waddell, Isaacs, Bullitt, and Miller) received a gold medal in the Mason-Dixon Games competing against most all track powers in the state.

Finally, the baseball team had a 14-7 record and were runner-up in the district. Coach Taylor managed the 'Skins to a good season with the help of Ron Reinsteadler, Dave Hecht, and Jim Ayre.

Certainly Seneca has been blessed with a wonderful array of other sports and a great tribute goes to the hard work put forth by the coaches.

The Seneca student body has supported the athletic program by attending sports functions, yelling, and participating in the program. Because of this it's certain that Seneca will continue to lead all other schools athletically as well as scholastically.

EASTERN DISTRICT

Until this year, Seneca's varsity gridiron trail had never been graced with a winning season; a football trophy was an object that had never adorned a Seneca trophy case; and, the players themselves were discouraged. These conditions disappeared quickly, however, with the entrance of coach Ronald Cain.

Under the leadership of Coach Cain, Seneca's football path was paved with eight consecutive victories and the championship of the County's Eastern Division. The eight wins included first-time-victories over county rivals Eastern, Southern, Butler, and Fern Creek, as well as a 33-6 romp over the 'Skins arch-rival Waggener.

Leading the squad throughout the entire campaign were seniors Jim Dent, Milt Miller, Jim Swart, and Don Waddell. These boys supplied both the offensive and defensive punch which sparked Seneca's attack. Swart and Waddell continually broke loose from their backfield positions to score on long touchdown runs. Jim Dent supplied steady and dependable quarterbacking all season, and Miller anchored the 'Skins defense from his linebacker position and opened gaping holes in opponents' lines from his spot at offensive tackle.

The forecast for next season is bright indeed, as Coach Cain has 15 returning lettermen. These include standouts Dwaine Dragoo, Bob Wester, Charles Metzger, and Rick Stall. Seneca's football future has taken a definite turn for the better and the Redskins seem to be on the way to County football prominence.

Basketball and Seneca. These two terms have become almost synonymous to Kentucky basketball fans. In only four years of Varsity competition the Redskins have won the County Championship 3 years, the District Title 4 years, and the Regional twice. This year Seneca climaxed its efforts with a State Championship and a 31-1 record.

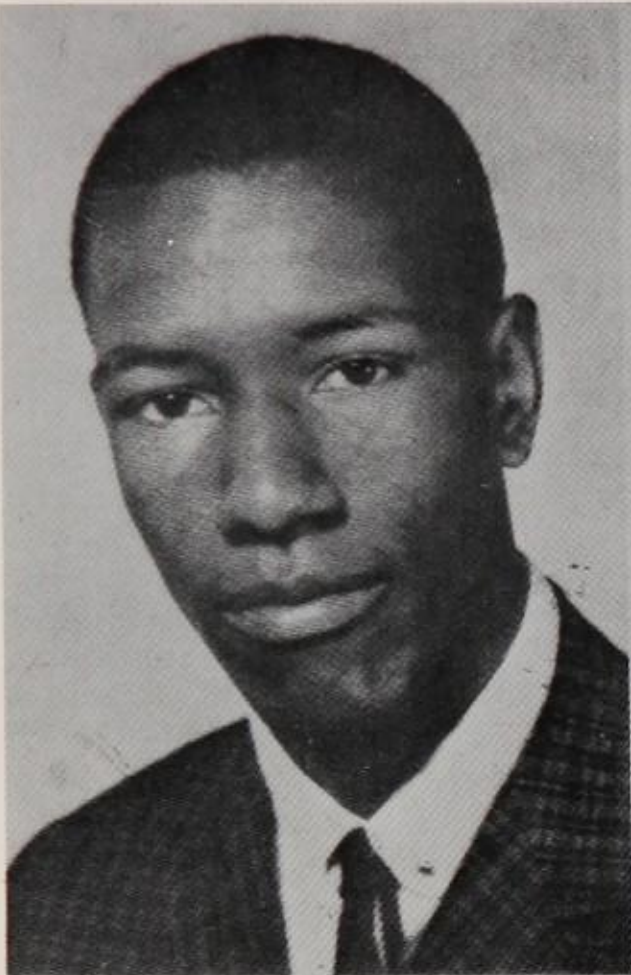

Coach Mulcahy led the talented quintet to 11 straight victories and entered the L. I. T. one of the two undefeated teams in the state. However, suffering the effects of 7 games in 9 days, the 'Skins dropped the final to Carr Creek by one point. That was the only Seneca opponent to enjoy victory as Redd, Unseld, Duggins, Hecht, and Dalrymple fought their way to 17 straight victories and a State Championship.

The Seneca team dominated every B-ball poll, standing first almost all year. A pre-season poll by coaches over the U. S. picked Seneca first in the South and third in the U. S.

The fabulous play by Redd and Unseld was a big reason why the team established such a tremendous record, but much credit goes to Duggins, Hecht, Dalrymple, and Fleischaker. Coach Mulcahy, pilot of the Seneca crew, was elected Coach of the Year in the County.

College coaches agree, Unseld top cage prospect

Seneca's All-Staters Mike Redd and Wesley Unseld are perhaps two of the finest B-ballers ever to play on the same team. Mike Redd was picked on the All-American Team by a popular national magazine and many have called Unseld the best center ever to come out of Kentucky.

Redd, 6-2 senior guard, averaged 21 points a game during the 1963 season and set a new scoring record amassing over 2000 points in his varsity career. Mike moved the school scoring mark, held by Dave Cosby, to 44 points and scored 41 points in the quarter finals of the State Tourney against Maysville.

Unseld, 6-6 1/2 junior center, averaged 13 points a game and 19 rebounds. His aggressive defense and rebounding earned him a position on every All-Tournament team.

DAVE HECHT

DAVE HECHT, 5'-10" Senior guard, has been a regular on Seneca's B-ball team for 4 years. "Seneca's Sparkplug" averaged almost 10 points a game this year; most of his points coming from his onehand push shot from 35 feet. A great deal of credit goes to David for the outstanding 1963 season. His best game came in the L. I. T. when he scored 25 points against Owensboro. BRUCE DALRYMPLE was a surprise to Seneca fans this year as he stepped into graduate David Cosby's shoes and made Seneca into a five man team. The 6'1" Senior forward was the best shot on the team and finished with a 5 point average. TOM DUGGINS, 6'5" Senior forward, furnished invaluable help to the 'Skins this year. His rebounding and clutch scoring, 10 points a game, brought Seneca through many near mishaps. His best game was against Carr Creek when he got 16. JON FLEISCHAKER, 5'11" Senior forward, rounds out the '63 regulars. Not only is Jon a good basketball player, but he is also an "A" student. His tight defense played an important part in many Redskin wins.

The Redskin underclassmen give hope for another excellent season next year. To go with returnee Wes Unseld is 6'8" center James Garrison who was a top reserve this year, picking up 54 points on the year. Another junior, 5'8" Allan Hepburn showed great promise to help Seneca to reap more honors in the '64 season. Bill Heinz may break into the starting five next year if he improves as much as he has this year. You can also look for something from 6'0" Bill Miller. Sophomores Tom Martin and Dave Pflug starred on Seneca's J. V. s this year and showed enough poise to play varsity ball with the best. Freshman Larry Trunnel, 6'1" forward, has been called "the best freshman since Mike Redd," and most people look for another All-Stater if he keeps improving. Jerry Schott sustained an injury during the season, but from what was seen of him he may be one to watch.

SENECA WINS COUNTY, DISTRICT, REGION

Seneca, which has already outgrown one trophy case in its four year varsity career, must now move some of its spoils somewhere else. This year the Redskins won the district for the fourth year in a row downing Trinity in the finals 56-44. Continuing their County basketball monopoly, the B-ballers moved to almost 40 games without a loss, and won their third County Championship.

Moving into the Regional Tournament, the 'Skins were everyone's favorite to represent the Seventh Region in the State Tournament. Although supplying many anxious moments in the process, Seneca proved to everyone that she deserved to enter the "Sweet Sixteen" as the team clobbered DeSales 62-30, squeaked by Male 39-33, and downed Central 52-49.

Not only did the team fare well along the tournament trail, Sen-eca's individual players dominated all the All-Tournament teams as Mike Redd, Wes Unseld, Tom Duggins, and Dave Hecht were on nearly every "dream team." Along with his players, Coach Mulcahy was also everyone's choice as "Coach of the Year."

Seneca Tops Dunbar 72-66 To Win State Championship

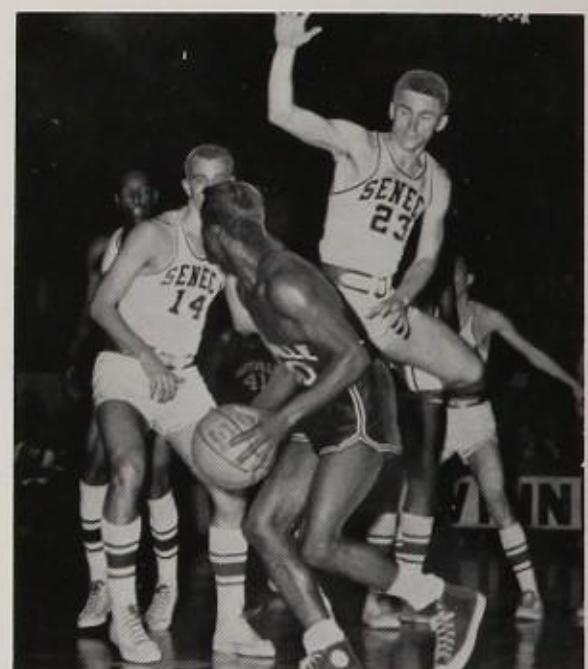

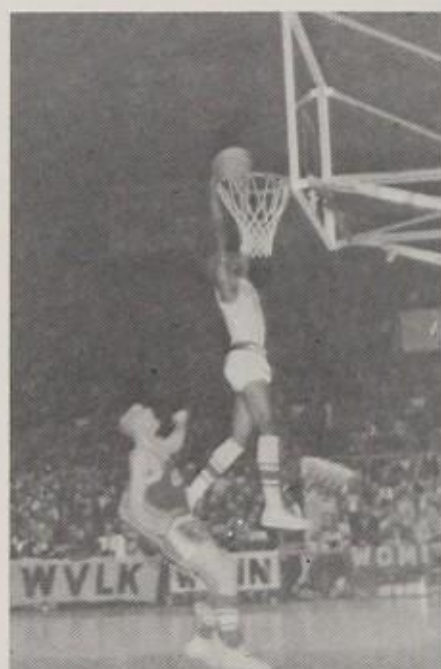

As Seventh Region champs the Seneca Redskins moved into Freedom Hall for the Kentucky High School Basketball Tournament, the nation's tops in roundball. The action was sure to be fast and furious as Seneca took on upset-minded Allen County the first night.

But the fifth region winner couldn't reach high enough to stop the powerful 'Skins. Wes Unseld muscled his way to 32 points and 20 rebounds and Seneca got win number 28, 70-56.

Maysville looked like a tough opponent, but Mulcahy unleashed Redd and he led Seneca to a 78-60 win while scoring 41 points for a tourney high. Unseld and Duggins got 15 and 10 respectively but Redd's performance was by far the best of the tournament.

Facing Oldham County put the 'Skins in the semi-finals and only 2 games away from a State Championship. Cold the first half, the team called time out; and, regrouping their forces, went on to beat the Colonels 44-28.

Saturday night, March 16, 1963, and Seneca was facing Lexington Dunbar for the State Championship. Dunbar had survived the lower bracket, beating such powerhouses as Taylor County and Owensboro. The Bearcats looked tough but the stakes were high and the fired-up Redskins downed Dunbar 72-66. Seneca became the Kentucky State Champs.

COACH ASH

Seneca's 1962 Track team had a great season. Besides being undefeated in seven meets, the 'Skins compiled such honors as Co-County Champs and Co-Runner Up in the Region.

A combination of several great individuals and two excellent relay teams enabled our Thinlies to roll over all season opponents. Seven new school records were set. Danny Groves and John Hill set new times in the mile and half mile respectively and Allen Hepburn moved the broad jump mark to 22'. Bob Miller lowered the 100 to 10.3 and the 440 to 52 seconds. Alvin Smith bested the hurdles mark and Wes Unseld put the shot over 45 feet.

Coach Ash has produced one of Seneca's most successful teams and the 1963 team's future looks bright as only four seniors depart.

Organized two years ago, the wrestling team has made a name for itself in a new and increasingly popular sport. In fact, the Kentucky State Invitational Wrestling Tournament was held at Seneca this year on February 8th and 9th. The winner was St. Joe of Bardstown, with second place going to Ahrens Trade School. On the individual basis, Seneca's Don Baldrige took first place in the 165 lb. division. Brad Matthews placed second in his weight class. Also there were three Seneca third places.

We will look to the Seneca High School Wrestling Team in the future to provide a major part of our athletic program.

Seneca Junior High

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

We younger Redskins are proud to have been chosen by Superintendent Richard Van Hoose to participate as a pilot school within the Jefferson County School system in the separation of senior and junior high school students. The new students now entering the seventh and eighth grades are gradually introduced to high school life by crossing a newly erected bridge called the junior high school.

The change from elementary to secondary school has its difficult aspects. First on the agenda of the day and foremost in the minds of us junior high students as the most difficult task in our adjustment is the rising at an early hour. Through all types of weather, some of us must catch that "good ole yellow bus" for Seneca while others, living within a mile of the school, hike each day to see their friends and to start another day of new experiences.

Continuing the idea of separation, we younger students gather in the T.V. rooms in the morning while the senior high students remain in the cafeteria. Time passes rapidly, and we move to our homerooms and greet our friends. Having our own wing of the building, we are free to socialize among our friends while some of us prefer to use this time in study.

As the hands of the clock move toward 8:15, the crowds in the halls slowly diminish. The ringing of the bell signals the start of the homeroom period where the reading of the Bible and the junior high announcements are given over the loud-speaker. We disperse to our first period classes with the sounding of the bell at 8:30.

For most students the changing of classes is a new process encountered when entering the secondary school. To ease this adjustment we have a Core class in which we spend a minimum of two hours each day studying the Language Arts and the Social Studies. Our Core teacher often takes us on field trips which add variety, make for a change of pace, and supply additional educational information in our curriculum.

Many of us study mathematics via television while others are offered the same information in a regular classroom situation. We have science daily during one semester of each year with a special science teacher. This system was started in 1961-62, and we enjoy learning science this way.

During the class time not occupied by the afore mentioned subjects, we divide our time in junior high school among these subjects: Home Economics, Shop, Music, Art, and Physical Education.

Our day doesn't always end with the ringing of the last bell. Often this is the signal for an intramural game of basketball, baseball, or football. After all, if we are to become Redskins of years to come, we'll have to get a head start now. On other days the last bell may be the get together call for our favorite club meeting. We have started many organizations to meet the expanding interests of our students. Some of these clubs and their sponsors are: Junior Red Cross - Miss Morat and Mrs. Middleton; F. T. A. - Mrs. Hill, Mrs. Howard, and Miss Koehler; Good News Club - Mrs. Burrell; Math Club - Mrs. Henderson; Music Club - Mr. Dorsey and Miss Kazanjian; and the Coin Club - Mrs. Kraft and Mr. Reynolds. We attend to business and have fun at our meetings.

The student body helps make needed improvements in our part of the building through our own student council under the guidance of Mrs. Becker. The representatives, which were elected by the student body in the fall, supply the necessary vigor to further the growth of Seneca Junior High School.

Junior high students are noticeably up-to-date on the latest fashions. The fact that the "ivy trend" is very popular in the junior high set is shown in the wearing apparel of both the boys and girls. Occasionally we come up with our own trend in clothing which we feel adds to our individualism. Shopping for new clothes is a favorite activity.

We enjoy all the sports such as tennis, golfing, ice-skating, and bowling. The movies still hold a great attraction for the junior Redskins, but in case you haven't noticed, we papooses are among the most loyal and the loudest cheering rooters for Seneca's ball clubs. We believe in cooperation in such efforts.

We don't want you to think we are trying to sound too perfect, so we'll tell you that we are well-acquainted with the Seneca Junior High School office staff and administration. We appreciate the help that Mrs. Gleaves and the girls give us, and we truly enjoy our conferences with Mrs. Goodell and Mr. Wright. We think Mr. Glasgow has done a remarkable job this year considering that we are the material he had to work with, and we're hoping not to be the cause of any loss of twinkle from his blue eyes.

We are happy to be the first students of Seneca Junior High School, and we hope that the traditions we have helped establish are worthy of being followed by those who succeed us.

LONNIE Q. GLASGOW
PRINCIPAL

A new feather has been added to the head-dress of the Seneca Redskins - The Junior High Division. We are grateful to the Arrow Staff for providing this special section of the yearbook in which we may record our accumulated memories of 1962-63.

Accepting the challenge of changing from an old, familiar road to a new unexplored trail is a real test requiring courage combined with curiosity. In making our change, we had to relinquish some privileges; in return, we have gained an extra margin of pre-teen time that will better equip us to appreciate and enjoy these privileges when they become ours.

Comments from students and faculty members indicate that this has been a satisfactory and happy year. With such faithful cooperation from everyone in the Junior High Division, I am sure that we will continue to make progress toward improving our educational opportunities.

Displaying the traditional Seneca spirit, I'm sure we will achieve goals of which we may well be proud.

Sincerely,

Lonnie Q. Glasgow

THE FIRST JUNIOR

As an eighth grader, our Homecoming tussle with Waggener H. S. was the first day game I was privileged to see. At that one game I managed to obtain more bruises, lumps, cuts, and perforations than at any other I have ever attended.

Climbing the stands loaded with people is at the least an advanced lesson in the obstacle course. While trying not to step on a pair of knuckles conveniently placed in your path, your other foot slips over a cleverly placed binder and slips through the boards. Whereupon you either hit your head on a stanchion or fall on some indignant person.

After achieving your desired position, which happens to be one of the two open seats in the entire stadium, you prepare to settle down and watch the game. Just picture this. You relax, ease down into your seat, and immediately pop up again. For the next thirty minutes you watch the game standing up while your friend spasmodically (between cheers) removes splinters from your pants. If you don't have a friend there, you find the most inconspicuous place you can and set to work yourself.

At halftime I descended to the ground with the rest of the mob. Here is a bit of good advice. During halftime the safest place to be is either hiding under the stands or cowering on top of the goal posts. Naturally I headed for the refreshment stand. That was a mistake. I believe that most of the Seneca section had converged on that one, lonely, little stand. I'll spare you the details of buying the drink, since you probably have experienced them. After getting my drink I held it high over my head because if it is held any lower it stands a likely chance of being squashed. Need I say more? Then I headed back to the stands, but upon looking at what I would have to fight my way through, I decided to stay on the ground for the rest of the game.

HIGH HOMECOMING

I strolled over and leaned against the cables separating the field from the outside area. While leaning heavily I sipped my drink and watched the game. The excitement headed my way, people gathered, and I was struck sharply on the shoulder. My feet slipped, I fell face down, and spilled coke all over myself. When I stood up the cold liquid dripped down my back. Oh well, it was a cold day, anyway.

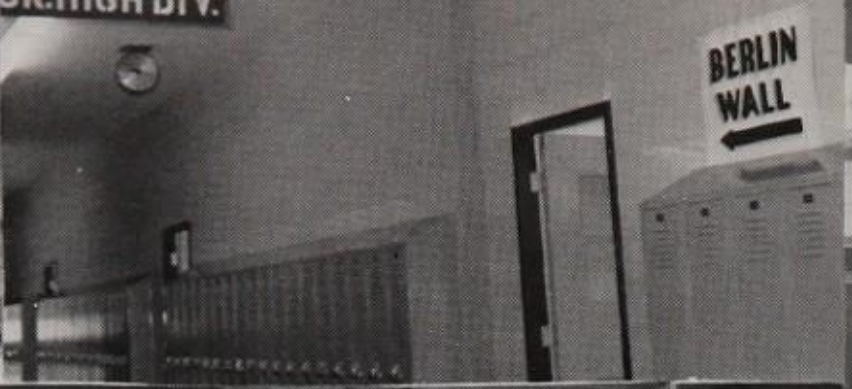

When my teeth finally stopped chattering, I walked to the end of the bleachers, going the long way around the field. I didn't see the boy standing beside the bleachers, practicing three-leaf clovers with his yo-yo. My jaw was numb the rest of the day.

There's always the guy who can take all kinds of weather, doesn't need a coat, and wouldn't think of packing one around during a football game. Among five of us there were three coats. The two fellows without coats were sandwiched in between the ones with coats. I suppose we looked pretty funny. I believe I came out ahead in this deal because I was the one in the middle.

During the fourth quarter I ran into the fence while talking to a friend, and to round off the casualties I stumbled and fell in the gravel while returning to the building. To make our accident insurance less liable to future claims, I believe I'll ask the Seneca Athletic Committee for a personal bodyguard who isn't accident-prone to accompany me to future Homecoming games.

Our Seneca Redskins won the ballgame in a walk, but their skins are no redder than mine! Hooray for Homecomings!

JR. RED CROSS

The Junior Red Cross, sponsored by Miss Morat, Mrs. Anderson, and Mrs. Middleton, has done many service projects for the community this year. They made Halloween decorations, joke books, crossword puzzle books, and many scrapbooks for neighboring hospitals.

There will be a Junior Red Cross Leadership Camp in June. Seneca hopes to have one or two representatives in attendance.

All of the members are enthusiastic and hard-working. They have received thank-you notes from Childrens, General, Central State, and Kosair Hospitals.

The officers are: President - Sharon Davidson
Vice-President - Nancy Ridge
Secretary - Sherrill Jones
Treasurer - Jane Hills

CHORUS

Musical training at Seneca begins early, and these members of the Seventh Grade Chorus have done an outstanding job under the capable direction of Mr. Dorsey.

Mr. Dorsey's Eighth Grade Chorus is also composed of junior high students with unusual musical ability. Both of these groups entertain the junior high at assemblies throughout the year.

MATH CLUB

Sponsor: Mrs. Henderson, Mrs. Videtto

Officers: Mikel Faulkner, Phillip Chance, Jimmy Farris

The purpose of the Math Club is to give students the chance to advance their skills in mathematics.

COIN CLUB

Sponsor: Mrs. Kraft, Mr. Reynolds, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Elliot

Officers: Doug Haynes, Larry Anderson, Dudney Kemp, Bobby Elliott

This club is made up of veteran coin collectors. They have a deep and sincere interest in the study of Numismatics. This year each member has given a lecture on his specialty, accompanying it with an exhibit. Our discussions have included everything from Indian head pennies to foreign coins. We enjoy social sessions and regular auctions together, and the club has met twice a month on alternating Thursdays since the junior high club program was instituted.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Acting as the governing body of the junior high, the Junior Student Council operates under the same constitution and by-laws as the senior high council. This is the first year this group has been in operation, and under the sponsorship of Mrs. Becker has grown into the most active of the new junior high organizations.

The officers are:

Pres.: Crystal Tieman
Veep: Anne Green

Sec.: Susan Vick
Treas.: Mark Holmes

ALTERNATES

MUSIC CLUB

The Music Club, sponsored by Mr. Dorsey and Miss Kazanjian, helps to give students interested in music a deeper appreciation of this art.

JUNIOR HIGH F.T.A.

The Junior F. T. A. is composed of girls in the 7th and 8th grades who are interested in teaching. Through this organization they learn all the duties involved in the teaching profession.

SPEECH AND DRAMA CLUB

The main purpose of the Speech and Drama Club is to acquaint the members with drama. To do this a one-act play was prepared and presented at the end of January. The club also prepares the students for the Speech Festivals in the spring. The officers are:

athletics

HI-Y FOOTBALL

The Seneca Hi-Y Football team was organized this year as a part of the new Junior High athletics program.

The group is coached by Mr. Pearl. Members of the team practiced and played until early November, when they were forced inside by bad weather.

The boys then went into the school to workout, but, eventually, they had to dissolve because of lack of facilities and crowded conditions.

However, next season, the team will be enlarged and a regular schedule of games will try to be adopted. Junior High sports fans have a lot to look forward to next Fall in the way of football.

JR. HIGH BASKETBALL

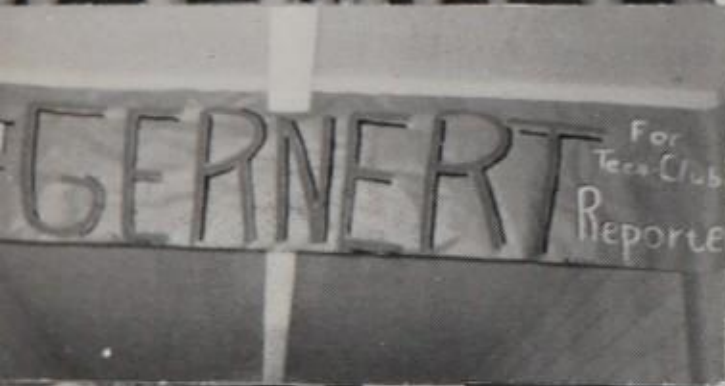

Members of the starting-five of the "Baby-Skins" present Junior High Principal Lonnie Glasgow with the championship trophy of the Goldsmith Invitational Tournament, held in February.

Mr. Glasgow admires the trophies of the young Junior High.

It looks as if they're off to a real good start.

Good Luck, fellows!

FOUR YEARS ON

It all started four years ago, when Seneca High School had its first Varsity basketball season. We had had a good Jayvee team the year before, and now the time had come to put our learnings to use and go all out in Varsity competition. We had a good year with eventual all-staters Mike Redd, George Unseld, and David Cosby leading the way. The team had a fine season for opening year Varsity competition. Seneca fans knew there would be great things to come. That year we lost out in the quarter finals of the regional tournament.

The following year was the kind that all schools dream about. The powerful Redskins dominated the county. They won the 28th District tournament and were off to the regional. They went through the regional like a tornado, winning the honor of being the number one team in only their second year of Varsity competition. This earned them a trip to the State Tournament and a spot as one of the "Sweet Sixteen" in Kentucky, a state that holds the round ball sport in high esteem. They went to Lexington in high spirits, ready to fight for the title of "Number One in Kentucky." With the 'Skins winning their first round game, everybody had high hopes for them. However, their next game was to be with Ashland, the team that eventually went all the way. The Redskins fell in defeat as several of their stars were either in foul trouble or had already fouled out. This was, however, a milestone in Seneca's short history.

The next year Seneca was rated as the number two team in Kentucky in the pre-season polls. They fulfilled this by driving through their season with a neck and neck race against St. Xavier, named the team to beat by teams and coaches throughout the state. They won the County Title with an undefeated season in county play, and moved into the district final with Waggener. Waggener soon showed it was not to be taken for granted, as they led at various times throughout the game. But with the playing of all-staters Mike Redd and David Cosby, along with Westley Unseld's rebounding, the Redskins fought back to finish on top and remain undefeated district champions. The Seventh Region tournament was about the same story, as it was nip and tuck all the way down to the finals.

In "one of the most dramatic games ever played here," the Redskins were to meet head on in the finals with Number 1 St. Xavier. Seneca shoved off to a slow start and fell behind 19-9 at the end of the first quarter. St. X. showed signs of turning the game into a rout, moving out to a 21-9 lead at the start of the second quarter. However, the Redskins refused to give up and went to the dressing rooms down by only three points - 28 to 25. The 'Skins narrowed the margin even more and went into the last stop behind by only one point, 37-36. The Redskins managed to tie it up several times in the last quarter, but could not hit the go-ahead shot. The final score stood 57-56, in favor of St. X.

This last year the Redd-skins received national recognition when a famous magazine ranked them as the number three team in the United States and Mike Redd a spot on the first squad of their All American High School Team. The 'Skins went to the Louisville Invitational Tournament boasting a 12-game winning streak. They were the tourney favorites and picked to go all the way. They did go to the finals, only to meet a fired-up Carr Creek team that had come out of the mountain region of Eastern Kentucky. The Redskins fought the Creekers, but could not put the crushing blow on them. The country kids finally came out on top, 46-45, to upset the number one team in the state. Seneca placed three on the all-tourney team, Mike Redd, David Hecht, and Wes Unseld.

Seneca rolled through another undefeated county season (their second in a row) and whizzed through the district tournament to capture another district title. The Redskins moved into the regional to meet DeSales, a highly regarded team. The game was predicted to be decided by only 5 points, but the 'Skins came through with one of their best performances of the year and knocked off DeSales 62-30. They came from behind to defeat Male 39-33 in their next game, and moved into the finals against Central. Seneca was becoming a fixture in the regional finals as they had gone three of the four years in Varsity play. Central was tough all the way and we had to go all out to down the Yellowjackets 52-49. This was the goal we had set at the start of the year, and with this goal we had earned a trip to the big show (our second in four years) and our second regional title. It seemed natural that our cheerleaders would win the cheerleading competition too, and sure enough, they did. We landed three boys on the all-region team in Tom Duggins, Mike Redd, and Wesley Unseld. The Redskins really brought home the trophies.

The State Tournament got under way with the Redskins downing Allen County 70-56. As usual, Mike Redd was tremendous, but the big surprise was Westley Unseld's high point total of 32 points. Unseld was great as he also pulled in 21 rebounds.

The next game charted Seneca against Maysville. The opponents weren't in the game as the Redd-led 'Skins laid it on to win 78-50. Mike Redd was phenomenal, pitching in a tournament high of 41 points. The Redskins had already gone farther than they had two years ago. They had plenty of rest before they met Oldham County in the semi-finals. The Colonels rolled out to a 9-0 lead as the Redskins missed their first 15 shots. But the come-from-behind boys got hot and gradually pulled away. The final score was 44-29 and we were one victory away from being the first Jefferson County school to win the coveted State Basketball Title.

Meanwhile, a school by the name of Lexington Dunbar had upset Taylor County, the team thought by many to be second best in the state. Dunbar got past number 2 rated Owensboro in the semi-finals, so for the biggest game in Seneca's history, it was to be Seneca versus Dunbar. The game was a sellout in advance, as everybody wanted to see the clash of the powers.

The tension built up and up inside the players and the fans. Even to play in the State Tournament is a dream come true, but to make it to the finals - well, it's just Seventh Heaven! The Redskins were slight pre-game favorites, and started the game confident of victory. But Dunbar was confident, too, and moved in front early in the game. But as they had done in many previous contests, the Redd-Skins finally moved out in front for good. Dunbar never gave up, and the two teams fought down to the wire, but we outplayed their stars and standouts just enough to win by 72-66. Mike Redd again came through with another spectacular performance, scoring 27 points and finishing as high scorer for the tournament with 106 points.

This story shows that the Seneca team was not made in one year. It also shows that the team is not made of one Mike Redd, nor one Westley Unseld, nor one Dave Cosby. The Seneca team is all of the Seneca students, players, and coaches molded into one group working as a whole.

No one knew it at the time, but several hundred miles away another Seneca champion had stepped into the spotlight. Diane Sawyer was being crowned Miss Junior Miss of America at the National Junior Miss Pageant in Mobile, Alabama. She, too, was treading the Glory Road that two Senecans had traveled before her. In 1961 her sister, Linda, was named first runner-up at the same pageant and in 1962 Rhonda Martin, who had won the Jefferson County contest, was eliminated at the state level. This year, our Diane of the class of 1963 went "all the way" and returned to tell us that she was cheered on and encouraged by the support given her by the Redskins with their letters and telegrams of good wishes.

Seneca will always produce champions, but probably there will never be two championships won on the same night as great as the two won on the night of March 16, 1963.

MISS JUNIOR MISS OF AMERICA

Diane Sawyer reads the ten foot long telegram from her Seneca cheering section. Your friends were with you all the way. You are our Miss Junior Miss of America, Diane.

THEN AND NOW

Favorite phrases of science and history teachers include: Life runs in cycles; History repeats itself. Some of us at Seneca have just completed a cycle and history has indeed repeated itself.

In September, 1957, the doors of Seneca Junior High School were opened to its first student body of approximately nine hundred (give or take a few) seventh, eighth, and ninth graders. In September, 1962, Seneca re-opened its Junior High doors to about the same number of students comprising only the seventh and eighth grades. This repeat cycle has been as interesting, invigorating, and successful as our first run around the course. May you, the seventh graders of today, leave behind you the same long-lasting impressions that the members of the class of 1963 leave with us today.

Ah, yes, I remember them well. The clothes of 1957 looked a little different but the boys and girls wearing them had the various expressions on their faces expected in any new group of students entering a new school for the first time. Some looked a little skeptical, others curious, a few mischievous, and there were those faces that seemed to say, "Another day, another school, another school year to endure, and so what of it?" However, all had that same priceless sparkle of youth and effervescence that cannot be imitated by any other age group. Accompanied by laughing, chattering, banging of books and dropped personal possessions, it seemed as though bedlam had suddenly broken loose as they surged through the halls.

Will this motley congregation ever become smooth, civilized, cultured, capable, Seniors? Regardless of how the group develops, Old Father Time eventually will sweep it up, a class at a time, and take them elsewhere as they graduate from this era and enter another. However, memories of them will linger on long after they have gone.

Can you remember John Ellens swinging around the water pipes, destined to be an acrobat no doubt. Peachie, you showed literary talent when you brought Armand, the field mouse, into school and let him take up residence in a teacher's desk drawer. Phil Hertle, your blue eyes and freckles were always engaging, but I can remember when your only words were "Ah, shucks." Could you ever forget Martha Rosbottom as Pierre, the Mayflower's cook with the French accent, and how Kim Perkins kept piling sugar lumps in the teacup in that great seventh grade production, "The Mayflower Sails Again." Harriet Parris really had a challenge in trying to outtalk the boys sewing circle that year.

I can still see Diane Sawyer winging her way down the hall. Her feet never seemed to do more than skim the floor. Perhaps that beautiful, blond mane of hair acted as a sail to make her buoyant. Gerry Rutter just couldn't wait to get to that piano lesson, proving that devotion to a cause brings marvelous results. She is now an accomplished pianist. Greg Haynes usually had the correct answer as well as one of the world's cheeriest smiles, while Don Waddell just kept grinning, answer or no answer. They were a happy group. Jim Stuppy, you may be surprised to learn that I still have that beautiful heart-shaped box you gave me on Valentine's Day. Charlie Meyers, you always had a vote getting personality---destiny, eh? Sharon Lott showed real capabilities which she still has. Lynn Partin was so demure and charming. Harry Jacobson, Bruce Kranz, and Jerry Koloms were a real test of survival. What one couldn't think of, another could. Tom Duggins, I never thought you would grow up to those feet, it didn't seem possible at the time. Renee Goldberg was the busiest person all the time--with her neighbors. Nancy Merritt was gracious, a rare quality at that age. Joan Noller possessed an air of earnestness. Laurence Branch has fulfilled a young characteristic, once a gentleman--always a gentleman. If there were more pages I could ramble on indefinitely. Each of you had your individual identification.

Class of '63, yours has been a tenancy of endeavor and success. Your interest and cooperation in participating in sports, speech and dramatics, and the development of your school educationally by being scholars of whom we are proud, as well as extracurricular participants in everything from our first Christmas program to "Lights for Seneca" has shown your true Redskin spirit. You have added stars to our celebrity list.

Two decades from now, when you are feeling reminiscent and are thinking of your past, we hope that you refer to your six years at Seneca as part of your

GOOD OLD DAYS.

REDSKINS — ALL THE WAY

Mike Redd and Westley Unseld named to Kentucky All-State Tournament Team.

Seneca High School's 1963 Kentucky State Champs take a real joy ride - March 17, 1963.

All for Seneca - stand up and holler!

A victory celebration in honor of our state champions consisted of a thirty mile parade through Louisville and Jefferson County, terminating in a huge pep rally held at Seneca's gym.

Ship,

you may think that I am going to take up this whole page like Pam did on the following page. But I decided I wouldn't take up this whole page like Pam did on the following page because there's not that much to say about you. I don't see why she wrote so much just when all I have to say is you're a real swell guy, and one I would like to have for a brother-in-law. Good Luck,

Mike

P.S. What I said about you being my brother-in-law may be a hard job because you will have some competition from Mike, Gaylen, Paul, Harry, Doug, Jimmy, Johnny, David, Butch, but probably the most competition will come from Donna.

Mike

Ship,

We've had fun with our respective women and no doubt we'll continue to do so. After you leave S.H.S. and start looking back on our school years, try not to cry too hard. Seriously we've had fun and and try to remember me & mine and I'll remember you and yours. Stay happy and don't ever let this old world bug you.

Marty Boyd
